Contract Win with Humax Co. Ltd

ANT Galio Platform selected to deliver new TV service by one of the world's largest set-top box manufacturers

ANT plc (AIM: ANTP), a leading provider of software solutions and services for the digital media industry, is pleased to announce that Humax Co. Ltd ("Humax"), one of the world's largest manufacturers of digital set-top boxes has selected the ANT Galio Platform upon which to build a range of Satellite, IPTV and Hybrid set-top boxes. The new product range is due to launch by the end of the year, providing consumers with a range of new TV services and enhanced end-user experiences. Humax currently exports its products to over 90 countries worldwide.

The partnership leverages ANT and Humax's extensive worldwide set-top box deployment experience. ANT's commitment to open standards allows Humax to design and develop a range of new applications, while benefiting from reduced time to market and improved performance. The speed and scalability of the ANT Galio Platform will provide Humax with the flexibility to respond to market developments and consumer demands.

Dr. Jong Uk Kim, CTO, Humax Co. Ltd, stated, "We are always looking to add exciting new applications to our range of set-top boxes and the ANT Galio Platform will provide us with a software environment that enables us to focus entirely on delivering a compelling end-user experience."

Simon Woodward, Chief Executive Officer of ANT plc, commented, "Humax is a world leader in the digital set-top box market and we are proud that ANT has been selected to deliver the service platform for a range of new set-top boxes. The ANT Galio Platform will enable the development of innovative services and applications delivering additional value in the broadcast market. ANT is pleased to see further progression in next-generation services and continues with its strategy to address this growing market."
